

Female and male goalkeepers arrive at a Cage Cap camp with one question: "Where is everybody?" Camps are limited by design. Highly individualized instruction; lots of cage time; no place to hide.

Rea delivers goalkeeping, community and connection with his camps. Sometimes to profound effect. What begins as a group of individuals at varying levels of development always ends the same -- as a family.